Players on temporary visas are not allowed to work in Australia. However, they obviously do work, for they do not earn enough from soccer.

The ASF is concerned that imports are preventing many local players from playing senior soccer — not only in the Philips and State Leagues but also in lower divisions populated by imports to longer good enough for top-grade soccer.

In cutting off the flow of imports, the ASF will make special provision for bona fide "stat" guest players on short-term contracts — men in the category of Malcolm Macdonald, Charlie George, Mimis Papelouennou and Zdravko Borovnica who have played on loan to South Melbourne, St George, Heideberg and Footscray respectively.

Meanwhile, a sub-committee will report back to the ASF in July on proposed rules designed to gradually phase out ethnic club names throughout Australia.

A decision on Australia's Olympic Games participation has been deferred pending a visit by ASF president Sir Arthur George and secretary Brian Lo Fevre to FIFA headquarters in Zurich this month.

New South Melbourne coach Duncan McKay set himself two targets hours of taking office.

The first was to strengthen his playing squad with two players — one a striker and the other a mid-field general.

The second was to find the elu-sive winning formula so that his gentlemen's agreement with South Melbourne will turn into a long-term contract. The second point is most im-portant to McKay, who waited chance to cook in the Philips League. First impressions are last-ing and McKay wants to make a success of his initial stint as a national league coach.

League First Impressions are lasting and McKay wents to make a

McKay added he would be most happy to stay with South depend on how successful he is.

"My agreement with the club

For the role of striker, the names Jamile Peton of Slavia and George McMillan were not thrown into the fing. There is also talk of players coming from Glasgow Celtic. McKays old club. In the case of Paton and McMillan. McKay would have several obstacles to overcome. Paton's club Slavia has played a dead bat to all transfer requests from the player, and so it's unlikely he will be available. Even if Slavia decided to sell Paton, the fee for the hot striker could be estronomical. McMillan said in a "Socoet Action" interview earlier this year: I have no ambitton to play in the Philips Laque. If Preston made the league, I would play for more year, but that would be enough for me.

As well as having to woo McMillan, McKay would have to woo Preston with a big bundle of dollars. McKay said if he had been coach from the beginning of this season, he would have gone to Britain and hand-picked a couple of players. "South Melbourne has only three forwards, so we need back-up there," he said. 'In midfield we need a general, who can take charge and knock balls around the park.

Marconi and Sydney City provide 10 of the 26 Socceroos named by national coach Rudi Gutendorf last week.

Marconi has the largest representation, with Paul Degney, Gary Byrne, Tony Henderson, Eddie Krneevic, Mark Jankovics and Peter Shame forming perhaps the nucleus of the new national team.

Sydney City players in the squad are Steve O'Connor, Joe Watson, John Stevenson and Ian Souness.

Gutendorf's aim is to base the national team on blocks of players from one or two club. He says quite rightly that this ensures team work and understanding in the national side.

Gutendorf kept his promise to include some members of the national under 19 team in the senior squad. They are Theo Selamidis, Eddie Krncevic, Peter Tredinnick and Greg Woodhouse

He had intended to include Danny Moulis and Craig Hall as well, but changed his mind.

John Yzendoom of Slavie is the only State League player in the squad. He impressed Gutendorf with his displays for the Victorian State side against Footscray J.U.S.T., and South Australia.

Yzendoorn would be ideal for the right back position. Being a sweeper with Slavia and Victoria, Yzendoom is well qualified to cover for Tony Henderson who will go forward in his libero role.

Peter Stone, (APIA), Murray Barnes (Sydney City), John Kosmina (West Adelaide), and Agenor Muniz (Adelaide City) are among the established internationals who are not among Gutendorf's 26.

However, they and other good players, like Jamie Paton (Slavia), Steve Kokoska (Essendon Croatia), Craig Hall Sütherland Harry Williams (Canberra) and Steve Perry (Bribbane City) remain in the running for the squad.

"Reputations mean nothing — only outstanding efforts, "Gutendorf said.

Gutendorf has delayed naming an assistant. "I want my choice to be my ultimate successor and there will be plenty of time to select him," Gutendorf said.

ellas and St George It looks like a good week for the Philips set to rise

League's bottom clubs, South Melbourne Hellas and St George.

Hellas, playing well under Duncan McKay, should notch its second successive victory against Footscray at Olympic Park and Saints, in their first game under new coach Raul Blanco, should have the motivation to beat injury-plagued West Adelaide at St George Stadium.

Heidelberg created numer-ous chances at Pratten Park, but had to wait until the last minute of the game to score its winning goal and inflict the second successive defeat for the home team at its new around.

Sydney Olympic's performance appeared flat and unimaginative. Its midfield with the young Socceroo, Iam Rowden, operating in the centrefield failed to fire and subsequently the forwards did not get the service necessary to produce goals.

On the other hand, Heidelberg appeared full of fire and through Campbell, consistently pierced Olympic's defence to create chances that went begging, mainly because of some poor shooting by the forward line.

Let's look at some of the chan ces. With five minutes gone, Pat Bannon found Jim Campbell free on the right flenk Campbell gree on the right flenk Campbell quickly pushed the ball across the goalmouth to unmarked Gary Cole, but the full striker failed to control the ball and a golden opportunity was wasted.

Nine minutes later Heiden opportunity was wasted.

Nine minutes later Heiden opportunity was marked to run down the left flank twenty metres before cutting the ball back for Andy Bozikaa to slam a great 2.0 metre shot under the cross bar and away from Meier's reach.

In the 18th minute, Campbell started another move by crossing to Bujlevic whose header found Bozikas unmarked, and six metres from the line. Bozikas hesitated, Richie Bell partly cleared but only to the feet of Ken Taylor, who missed the ball with the goal wide open.

Two minutes later, Bozikas played a one-two with Cole, ran hrough the defence and faced with Meier, shot over the bar. Sydney Olympic tried hard to get back into the game and forced the visitors into the area in the last five minutes of the first half, but with the exception of a fractional chance that fell to Clive Eaton in the 40th minute, never seriously theatened Yakke Banovic.

Heidelberg deserved its win. The vietors played attractive, creative soccer, while the home team never got into the second gear. The game against Sutherland on Wednesday night appeared to have taken a lot of fire out of this team and only Richie Bell and Ken Wilson came through with their reputation unesatted.

The atmosphere was tense for this vital bottom-of-thetable clash, and the Hellas supporters were subdued at first because of the ASF's decision to deduct the 'Tony turner points' after all (see page one).

This meant Hellas was in last place before the game started, and in danger of being nailed more firmly to the bottom by another defeat.
But it was evident very early that Hellas meant busisness. Right back Mike Pye was making some dashing, adventurous runs on the flank and the hard tackling all over the filed indicated that Hellas was eager to give new coach bucan McKay his first two points.

Ducan McKay his first two points.
In the 10th minute a great move involving George Campbell and Ken Drake-ford saw the ball going to mercurial Alun Evans who brought a great save from St. george goalkeeper Martin Coe.

Coe.

St. George obviously had come to salvage only one point and this gave Hellas most of the play.

A magnificent move by Hellas saw Campbell cross over the St. George defence to Evans who hit a volley into the side-netting. Evans benfiting from the wing play of Campbell and the drive by Pye and Alan Davidson down the flanks, was creating havoc in the St. George defence and it was only goal-keeper Coe who kept the score down.

The game resumed after half time with Evans again shooting narrowly wide.

Moving relentiessly forward in search of a goal, Hellas was caught out when Stefan Matic missed an easy chance from five metres but Hellas was caught out when Stefan Matic missed an easy chance from five metres but Hellas was quickly back into attack and this time it was Bertie Lutton who was foiled by Coe.

Coe was in action once again with a fine save from Campbell who was trying to stop a magnificent volley by Evans, which had looked certain to score.

Hellas finally managed to get the ball into the net. One minute later, a replica of that move saw Lutton crossing to Christopoulos, who, with an open goal in front of him hammered past the post. Seconds later Christopoulos was foiled by great save from Coe. In other words, the young youth international could have not-ched a hat-trick of goals in a space of three minutes.

For St George, Phill O'Connor was the only avenue of attack. He had a magnificent duel with Milke Pye and the one time he managed to get clear of the rugged full back, O'Connor was shought down by sweeper Chris Kalafatidis who was shown the yellow and card.

St. George certainly has some talented individuals but there is an alarming lack of punch about the team's play.

A word about Mike Pye.
His career appeared to be over a few weeks ago when he was playing for the Helias Second Division team. reinstand in the sanior team by Second Division team, reinstated in the senior team by coach McKay, Pye is playing with the all vigour that made him one of the all-time greats of Victorian soccer.

It was a heartening performance by Hellas — one which will give the team the confidence that had been missing in previous weeks.

try and play one-touch football, instead of trying to run with the ball.

City had a bright opening and could well have scored in the third dinute, when a Kevin Low cross was headed down by Kelso, but Todd Clarke diverted John Coyne's shot.

Caldwell and Low made further promising breaks which resulted in nothing, with Thomson and O'-Connor strong in their covering defence. But Sydney City proved again to be masters of the quick break, and when Murray Barnes made space and advanced on the right wing, his cross was exembled home by Thomson.

Most of the remainder of the first half belonged to Sydney City. In the 22nd minute, Barnes put Campbell through and his bob over Wishart, rolled down the back of the net.

Two minutes later, Caldwell turned a free kick near the comer flag back to Steve Perry, who cracked a great shot against the crossbar. Terry Smith should have given Sydney City a 2-O lead in the 31st minute when he received a potter back pass with only wishart to best, but blasted over the top.

Kelso, Caldwell, Low and full-back Wilkinson were all prominent and at least helf a dozen shots skimmed the Sydney City bar by only inches. Clarke also made some great saves.

Newcastle KB United's un-beaten run come to an abrup and last Saturday when KE met Canberra City at the Inter-national Sports Centre.

Canberra City won 2-0 in a game that had very little high quality football, played by two teams of similar style.

Newcastle United's previous successes have been mainly due to some clever exploitation of the strength of the players at his disposal by Alan Vest, the Newcastle manager coach.

Consequently the team has played a brand of football, if not classic but certainly enter-taining and it has produced results so far.

It has been mainly based on doing the simple things, doing them right and above all putting pressure on the ball when not in possession. Last week, however, Newcastle met a team that was putting the same kind of pressure but on the day they were doing it a little bet-ter.

Canberra City always managed to get two players around the ball, which made lifting the eyes off the ball by the player in posses-sion virtually an impossibilty.

This, coupled with some very determined tackling completely upset the balance of the local team, who eventually resorted to pumping long high balls straight down the throat of John Brown and Roy Stark

The Canberra City central de-fenders had no difficulty in hand-ling the situation.

But for all that, Newcastle still had enough chances to bring Canberra out of their shell espe-cially in the first half.

John Davies stunned the eight thousand plus crowd into silence when in the 7th minute collected a loose ball took a defender on and best Dando with a low left foot short to put the visitors ahead. That, and a tap into an empty gool in the 90th minute by Terry Byrme after he was put through by a good ball by Ivan Gruicic to make the score 2-0, were the only shots at goal the visitors had in the game.

Newcastle however had some golden chances in the first half when, although behind, the team was playing with some composure.

Ken Boden in the 17th minute beat stylich Steve Hoszowski to the ball and Graham Hoys left foot drive was headed off the line by Milovanovic.

Keith Harris just falled to find the nett from two scrimmages in front of goal.

But the best chance came in the 33rd minute when Col Curren his a 50 metres cross field pass to find Bill Summerscales inexplicably unmarked on the far post. Normally in that situation you can put your glasses down and it is in the back of the net, but this time the tall defender's header went harmlessly past the post.

It was ironical that Summer-cales celebrating his inclusion in the National training squad to-gether with Ken Boden and Peter Tredinnick played possi-bly his worst game since coming to Australia.

Rudi Gutendorf the national coach in attendance at the game, must have been impressed by the form shown by the Canberra City's Denny Moulis who had an outstanding game Jim Cent, John Devies and Mike Milo-

Newcastle United's perform-ance must be overlooked as a true indication of what the team is capable.

This Sunday's game against Brisbane Lions in Brisbane will see Newcastle more determined than ever to show their big following that they can pick themselves up off the floor and bounce back.

Of Canberra City, what can one say, we have seen that they can defend very well, but I would like to see their tactics and attitude when they find themselves benind. Before I pass judgement on their chances of taking out the title, however, make no mistake they are a very useful team and a of his best performances for the club:

He completely obliterated Gary Byrne and Roberto Wierl and must surely be Rudi Gutendorf's number one midfielder.

Boyle involved himself in everything and even managed a 25 metre pile driver which unfortunately went straight at Maher.

However Ian McGregor had the best two chances to score in the second half.

The first came in the 46th minute when he pounced on the ball and headed powerfully but Maher made a super reflex save.

And just 10 minutes later McGregor found himself in front of an open goal with Maher strended on the ground, but he blasted the ball over the bar.

West tried hard to find a crack in Marconi's defence but Scheinflug's men were in an uncompromising mood.

— VICTORIAN STATE LEAGU with Kyle Patterson

Three Victorian State League clubs sitting in the bottom half of the ladder are hoping their newly imported players will make a difference in the next few weeks.

George Cross, Croydon City and Juventus have had indifferent starts to the 1979 season, but the inclusion of new players could turn the tide.

Croydon, which has imported four players in the past year, is awaiting the arrival of the fifth. He's Peter Loughane, a winger from English club Shrewsbury.

past year, is awaiting the arrival of the fifth. He's Peter Loughane, a winger from English club Shrewsbury. Loughane did an apprenticeship with Manchester Utd. and spent several seasons playing first team for Shrewsbury. He will join Harry McKinlay, who joined Croydon from Scottish League club Cowdenbeath. McKinlay is yet to play for Croydon, but is sure to make his debut soon. Croydon's other imported players are Dave Broghan, Jimmy Spink, and Duncan Smith. George Cross has had troubles obtaining a clear-ance for import Michael Wilson. Wilson, from Scottish junior league club Dunipace, has been in Australia a month, but is yet to play a full general and the league in which the club plays, have refused a clearance, although no reasons have been withdrawn his passport. Cowan is expected to arrive in Australia shortly. Apparently Cowan has been amongst the top goalscorrer in the English Southern League for several seasons. Juventus recently transfer-listed three players, but will balance the books with the signing of two players. Mick Watkins, the ace winger who played with the club last season, will make a return. Watkins didn't have a happy time last season, and so returned to England. However, in 1977 he won the Bill Fleming Medal, and Juventus is hopeful he will be able to recepture that form and form a deadly combination with George Gillan and Bobby McGuinness in the Juve, front line.

It will be a tough game for Juventus, because Preston is in form at the moment, scoring a total of nine gools in games against White Eagles and Altona City last week. Preston's strength is its forward line, which boosts George McMillan, Robert Cullen and Gary Ward. The Juve defence will be kept busy, and goalkeeper Jack Relily will have to be in top form. Croydon City's second goal against Albion Rovers raised an interesting point about the inter-oretation of the offside rule.

The incident started when Croydon broke clear after an Albion attack. Goalkeeper BiJ Johnson was forced to rush to the edge of his penalty area to inter-cept the ball, but the Croydon player lobbed it over his head.

In the meantime Roy Hamilton had followed up, marked by Albion sweeper Bobby Nisbet. Hamilton and Nisbet challenged for the ball, and the Croydon man went out. The ball was destined for the net, but Nisbet punched it out and conceaded a penalty.

for the net, but Nisbet punched it out and conceeded a penalty. Hamilton duly converted the spot kick.

After the game, it dawned upon spectators and players that Hamilton was offside when he went for the ball, even though Nisbet was goal-side of him.

The rule states that a player will be offside when he is in a position where there is only one player between him and the goal when the ball is played. In almost every offside decision it's the goalkeeper who is that one player between the offside player and the goal. However, with the goalkeeper out of the play, the last man became an outfield player, and Albion supportors led thindered and the play the decision of the offside rule.

Keith Schumann

Schumann surely a Roo

By ALEX VESIC

I had the pleasure of watching a fine geme between Olympic and Sutherland at St George Stadium, and was lucky to have been one of some 2000 people at the ground to see young Keith Schumann in action.

Having seen most of the Philips league defenders, I have no healtarion in stating that this young man is Australia's future star.

In lest year's two great finals against mighty Croatia, Keith Schumann stood tall in defence and was the man responsible for blotting out one of the finest stateks in the country.

Last Wednesday, Sydney Olympic found out just how strong this young man is.
Elegant, stylish, powerful in the air and with plenty of skill, he meamerised Olympic's defence to create a chance for Peter Beggs to score and give his side the chance to go into extra time.

Time and again he chimed into the attack and if some of the forwards could have noticed him a little quicker, a goal or two might have come his way.

His consistency in club games is unquestionable, his ability is proven and many a Philips pengue Gula has already rung the bell at Seymour Shawaschande. His ability is proven and many a Philips league Club has already rung the bis are viewed to be guite a big quete on the services. For with the Sharks, and was for the services for the services for it has been alled the money being thrown away on foreign classilet's look at some of Australia's own.

Pools punters should note that the Soccerpools list of matches for this Saturday includes 12 non-league games. These are match numbers 44-

As there is no current form available for the teams involved, my forecasts for these matches are nothing more than the proverbial "shot in the dark."

Punters using regular numbers for their antries should stick to them even if they coincide with the non-league matches. A number of these games is just as likely to end n score draws as some of the league matches

The English and Scottish soccer easons for 1978-9 are almost over and as rom next week, Soccerpools will use the sustralian matches.

Form students should find a number of the Australian games easier to assess than the English matches. A study of the detailed match reports from the local games will undoubtedly help in the choice of selection.

While it may be impossible to study all the natches for all States, pools punters will ob-iously be better informed on the Australian socer scene, than they are on the English and Scottish leagues.

Getting back to this week's matches it appears that the four divisions of the English League contain many close encounters.

MONEY MAGIC

with Michael Morley

Normally it's not too difficult to discard some of the home winners in order to arrive at the all-important score draws. This week it's

If you go through the list of matches you will soon see that you wouldn't need a very fine comb to detect that many of the games could easily go either way.

Out of the 11 matches in Division Two there are only two likely home winners in Cambridge and Leicester.

It is also interesting to note that the four leading sides on this ladder have away match-es, the teams being Brighton, Stoke, Crystal Pelace and Sutherland.

It seems almost certain that three of these teams will be promoted, so it is with some degree of confidence that I select the four leaders to win their away matches.

The English Division Four has a similar pat-tern in that there appears to be only two games where the form indicates a win for the home side. These are the matches at Alder-shot and Grimsby.

As many of the other games look so evenly balanced. I'm taking 21 matches as score draws for this week's planned entry. My score draw selections are:

21 MATCH PLAN 10 2 5 13 15 16 18 23 26 28 32 34 35 39 40 41 43 45 48 51 55

Bolton, Derby, Tottenham, Bristol Ro-vers, Cardiff, Charlton, Luton, Blackpool, Mansfield, Rotharham, Walsall, Bournern-outh, Crewe, Hartlepool, Hereford, Portsmouth, Rochdels, Frickley, Maceles-field, Worksop and Maldstone.

If you would like to try this plan I have left a blank line in the diagram for your selections. It will involve taking six entries of system 11 and at 50 cents an entry the investment is $3.

choose your 21 matches and then, reading from left to right, put your best selection in the first space of the diagram it doesn't matter what order you place your remaining 20 matches. When you have marked all your selections on the blank line, use the corresponding X's as set out in the diagram as you transfer your numbers on to the entry forms.

• If your best selection is a score draw and then, reading from last to right across the dis-gram. If you have ten score draws that all among your first or last 15 selections, you would be sure of having at least one line of seven score draws.

This also applies to your first five and last ten as well as your first ten and last five selections.

Until next week, good luck and good punt reputation goes before you".

Stein recognies all too well that the passion aroused by pulling on the blue shirt is a mixed blessing. He claims:

"Beating England does not matter any more, it is far more important to come out on top against West Germany or Italy.

"The Scottish Press encourages us to put all our eggs in one basket, the game against England, with a tremendous building up beforehand.

"We have the best pool of players among the home countries, but they ve not been used properly in the past.

"We qualified for the last two World Cups which was an achievement in itself, but we should have done better in 1978.

"I think other international teams have problems with discipline, but we've got a happy knack of bringing it out in public!"

Stein has his eye on Forest winger John Robertson, insisting: "I think he can play a wee bit. It's emazing how few in Scotland think he can."

And he has a word of warning for England manager Ron Greenwood. "I don't fancy England for the World Cup at present. They will qualify in the European Championship, but Ron may find hinship to the the finals with the same seam. It believe one should use workhowses in the callying stages and then dress the team up for the
